PUBLISHED DAILY, THURSDAY AND WEEKLY.

Mr. Nashby has a Vision.

SAINT'S REST, (which is in the stait uv Noo Jersey,) May 31, 1865.—Dreams was common in the old Skipton school times, and was considered as profitable.
I had a dream last night, which may or not be true. It may, Lord help the unfortunate, be my prayer, continually.
I dreamed I was dead—that assisted by a tyfus fever, and 2 doctors I had build the body on mortally, and had send to the unknown hereafter. Up I went to the gates of the other world, where I was confronted by Peter.

"Wise you found?" sez he.

"No Jersey," sez I.

"Wuz you a good citizen?" sez he.

"I wuz a democrat who never skratshed a titbit," sez he.

"Hey you vottid that titbit for the last 1 year, and kin you rule?" sez he.

"I say and kin," sez I.

"Then your place is below," sez he.

"Gee," Which I did.

I met the Majesty Satan the 1st, at the door, and he welcomed me cordially. I was disappointed in his personal appearance. He wuz a middle-aged man, dressed plainly in style, resembling Gifford Davis very much, only havin a more intellectual cast of countenance.

"Welkum," sez he. "I hev been spect-in you sum time. Welkum, welkum!"

"Hey you menny uv the Dimoricy with you?" sez I.

"Not meny of the ginocine kopperheda," sez he.

"U course you hevnt," sez I; "we ev-erage as good can."

"That's not it," sez he, gazing on me with an expression of intense fondness.
"That's the fact. All about 10 or 11 from each county git out by pleidin ignorance and idioity, and sich. But it's all rite. I make it up by havin a heavier force 2 spare 2 air up the few leaders.
You kin red print, can't you?" he asked anxiously.

"I kin," sez I.

"All rite," sez he. "Jefferson Davis will be along in a few months, tho he don't show more man than he did when he wuz caught, he'll make poor amusement."

"He's a disgrace 2 his socks—he ort 2 hev bin a woman," sez I.

"Troo," retorts he, "but 'er Shak-speer sez, 'There's a divinity that shapes our ends.'—Then Alce Stryker?"

"Will you get him? He was origin-ly opposed to secession."

"That's my best bolt. Davis wuz aluz a secess. Hingman wuz, becuz he thaw't it woud pay for the poor privit morgie ever since they arrived at the years of responsibility. Hingman made secess wuz wrong—he can't plead ignorance no nothing, for he warn'd his people agin it, and then wuz bot up in it. It is hiself for the poor privit, for playing 2 fiddle to Giff Davis, who draw a mizible bow hisself. I've ded-wood on his head."

"Tell me, gentle sir," sez I, "how about Farnaby Wood, Vallandigham, et al, as the lawyers say."

"In due time they'll come," sez he.
"They can't save themselves by repentance to ev. They are now past forty, trying to do ev. much good as they had, and live to be ez old as Metho-seer, they couldn't make a commensment toward halatin the लोक. By the way, speakin of Methocheer, I hed to wait patiently for customers in them days, when men lived 900 years."

"There's Corry, Colorado Jewett, and Alce Long," continued he. "I've had an eye on Jewett and Corry 'll lose—they're a place outside uv your jorsien for sich. They ain't responsible, you see. The devils that wuz out of the ark, and sedged in the ark, led the swine when they wuz downwid, and hev inhabit many men since. Two uv em ar in Corry and wuz in Jewett to day. Alce Long has every now and then a glimmer uv sense; he shows, occasionally surface indubious uv intellect, not quite enuff to make health up, and too much for a dity. I may git him and may not. But you will hev plenty uv company. The saint and your party look down on men in 2 cussidins, who knole better, and who, of let alone, wud hev lodged him. I hev an eye on wud who denominate a pluck outside uv your jor-sien wuz brot down on 2 and (by the way, just such as you tanned them sed accuse, and he me jocularly in a rib, a original sin, which is givin the devil (ez you mite) his due, with compound interest."

General Halleck has written a letter in reply to the charges that he has treated the colored population of Richmond with peculiar severity. The General says that after he evacuated Richmond, the city rapidly filled up with gamblers, thieves, assassins and burglars, and that as a natural consequence many arrests were made, and some severity was necessary; that in dealing with these offenders, white and black were treated alike, and that in the administration of the civil affairs of the department, he has no knowledge that black people have been unjustly treated.

Daniel S. Dickinson, of N. Y., had an interview to-day with the President in regard to the extension of the rights of suffrage to the freedmen of the South. He told Mr. Johnson that a large number of the colored people of the country were in favor of clothing the negro race with the elective franchise, and that in giving it to them his action would be sustained not only by New York, but by all the loyal States.

The new Supreme court of Missouri, composed of Gov. Fletcher's appointees, is now in session. The old judges were brought before the Recorder of St. Louis, to be sworn in as a charge of disloyalty, but they were discharged. The radical German organs, although opposed to the new commission, do not seem to be in the forcible removal of the old judges.

A Boston despatch of the 14th says: George, aged sixteen years, son of David Holliday, residing at a severe and fatal wound, and then fled to the woods, where he was shot by a volunteer. The act was without known provocation, and the commission of the crime was a disgrace to the community. The tragedy occurred on Tuesday, in Sangre, Mass., where Mr. Holliday had been an industrious and affectionate son.

A correspondent says Washington has undergone a marked revolution. Since the war it has changed its appearance and character. It is no longer a southern city, with its long, narrow streets, and its old-fashioned houses, but a city of the future, with its wide, straight streets, and its modern buildings.

Another report took place on Maryland avenue, a few days since, between the troops of the 21st New York cavalry and the West Virginia cavalry. It arose in mutual accusations of cowardice. Some officers took part in the affair, and the men used their revolvers freely, while those without arms had recourse to bricks and stones. There was a general stampede of all citizens of the vicinity.

Professor Agassiz and party arrived safely at Rio de Janeiro on the 23d of April, and a boat alongside of the Columbia to take the party ashore. The professor had a long interview with Mr. Agassiz, the Secretary of the Treasury of Brazil, and gave orders to have the baggage and instruments of the party packed and sent to the Custom House, and every courtesy was extended to the members of the expedition by the officials of the Brazilian Government.

Fifty-one more rebel prisoners were released from Fort Warren yesterday, taking the oath of allegiance. The Boston Transfer says: Some of them were shown great attention by a number of citizens who seemed to spare no pains to give them a comfortable journey. These rebels already acknowledge that though they have taken the oath of allegiance, their love for the old Union is not yet entirely extinguished.

The New York Herald's Washington special says: "The celebrated Armstrong gun which was presented by Armstrong to the Southern Confederacy, and which was brought to Washington. It is a magnificent piece of ordnance, mounted upon a rosewood carriage and elaborately decorated. It is one of the evidences of historical neutrality to our domestic difficulties.

The Tribune's special says: "A large number of soldiers believing the war over, and their moral obligations to serve for the United States, have taken leave for their homes. Several hundred have passed into Maryland, Delaware and Pennsylvania. To-day a small squad, armed in summer uniforms, were marched through the city to the adjacent camps, having been picked up in Maryland."

An order will soon be issued providing for the mustering out of all troops whose term of service expires on or before July 1st, 1865. The order will be issued by the War Department, and will be in accordance with the provisions of the act of March 3, 1865, relating to the discharge of soldiers.

The condition of Frederick W. Sewall continues to be most encouraging. There is no longer any danger of his death. He has been able to sit up, and has been able to take food. He is now in a comfortable condition, and is expected to be able to go home in a few days.

THE SOUTHERN STATES.

Pacification and Reconstruction.

Gov. Allen of Louisiana has published his farewell address to the people, wherein he advises temperate language, dignity and submission to the law in the inevitable course of events. They must depend upon the United States to make them contented, prosperous and happy.

Refugees are advised to return home, take the oath of allegiance, work with redoubled energy, and prove true allies and submission to the law in the inevitable course of events. They must depend upon the United States to make them contented, prosperous and happy.

North Carolina. From the Raleigh Progress of May 21. Negro Suffrage.—We have not hesitated to express our gratification at the freedom of the negro, and to express the opinion that the people of North Carolina would rally at the ballot-box the progress of the Reconstruction, and the order of Gen. Schofield, issued in pursuance thereof. We are glad the negro is free on his own account, and we are glad on our own account. We believe, as do our great and good Gaston, that the African slavery is a curse to the country, and that the sooner it is destroyed the better it will be for the country.

At present we are sure that there is not a single man in the State of favoring him to be a slave, and any attempt to do so would be a disgrace to the community. The act was without known provocation, and the commission of the crime was a disgrace to the community. The tragedy occurred on Tuesday, in Sangre, Mass., where Mr. Holliday had been an industrious and affectionate son.

The Three Wishes.

There was once a wise Emperor, who made a law that to every stranger who came to his court, a fish should be served. The Emperor was directed to take notice if the stranger had eaten the fish to the bone on one side, he was to be immediately seized, and on the third day thereafter he was to be put to death. But, by a great stretch of imperial clemency, the Emperor permitted to utter one wish each day, which the Emperor pledged himself to grant, provided it was to spare his life. Many had already perished in consequence of this edict, when one day a Count and his young son presented themselves at the Emperor's court. The Emperor was directed to serve the fish as usual, and when the Count had removed all the fish from one side, he turned to the other and said: "I wish to command the Emperor to allow me to die in the room of my father—a favor which the Emperor promised to grant, provided it was to spare his life. Many had already perished in consequence of this edict, when one day a Count and his young son presented themselves at the Emperor's court. The Emperor was directed to serve the fish as usual, and when the Count had removed all the fish from one side, he turned to the other and said: "I wish to command

MRS. GEN. LEE ON THE RAMPAGE.

Developments of Her Christian Spirit.

Joni Davis "a Noble Man and True Patriot."

From Gallatin (Paris) Messenger, June 1.

RICHMOND, April 17.—The war

We have received the following:

Sir: The subject of the letter—replete with "master of much truth and wisdom"— is from the pen of a lady residing in Richmond, Va., who is widely known and beloved for the admirable simplicity of her life and character, and for the practice of "all the charities of mother, daughter and sister." It is due to historical justice and the interests of truth that her ingenious recital of very recent facts, so distorted and developed by certain Northern scribes, should be published in your cosmopolitan journal.

This good office is asked to publish the letter in a public sense, and will oblige a

"NATIVE VIRGINIAN."

The following is the letter enclosed:

RICHMOND, May 6.—The result so unfortunate to all our fond hopes, of four years' hardships and self denial almost unprecedented in the annals of our war, must have reached you, my dear

Also the false and garbled accounts of the Northern papers. The sad truth is that our people got tired of the war, and were ready to surrender. When Gen. Lee surrendered to Grant he had only 7,800 men.

These noble men submitted to seven days upon two days' rations; had been fighting by day and marching by night without even time to parch the corn which was their only sustenance, and even in this exhausted state they drove back the enemy more than a mile, and took 1,400 prisoners.

They had determined, had Grant demanded an unconditional surrender, to cut their way through his encircling hosts, which by his own account amounted to more than 80,000 men, well fed, armed and equipped as they might be, having stolen from the South every horse and mule and all their provisions.

Gen. Grant's proposals were so honorable that Gen. Lee determined to accept them, and nothing could be gained by
